Eleven year old controversy

Council expecting objections over closing of Twelve Mile Lake road

Anson, Hindon and Minden council is preparing to close a portion of Twelve Mile Lake Road in a move that has drawn objections from cottagers ever since it was first attempted eleven years ago.

The proposed road closure will affect 854 feet of roadway directly in front of Hart Lodge at the intersection with Highway 35. The owners of the Lodge have long sought to have the thoroughway closed to stop vehicular traffic in front of the grounds, but cottagers using the road have complained that an alternative route being provided by the municipality is too long and too inconvenient.

In exchange for closing the Hart Lodge portion of Twelve Mile Lake Road, the municipality agreed to build and maintain a new road on Hart Lodge property that would give access to the same area. A deed turning over the new road to the township was prepared and registered in 1980, but the flood of objections forced the municipality to shelve plans to close the road. Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, owners of Hart Lodge, challenged the municipality on the issue, asking that either the road be closed as agreed or the deed for the new road be returned to them. A court hearing was scheduled for May 1980, but the Crawfords were assured that a road closure by-law would be passed, and the court date was cancelled. Now the Crawfords are pressing the municipality to fulfill its side of the arrangement by closing the road.

Minden council is already expecting a flood of objections to the announcement of the closure, but exact procedures for another attempted closure are not clear. In an interview Monday, municipal clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke said the municipality is investigating whether or not a public notice will be legally necessary before the road can be closed. The closure has already been advertised once. "We're meeting with legal people now and representatives from the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing to find out exactly how to proceed," Burke said. Burke also told a regular session of council last week that, "as soon as this is advertised in the paper, everyone on Twelve Mile Lake will object."

Minden council met with the Crawfords at a June meeting, and inspected the two roads involved. The township currently maintains both the old road and that on the Crawford's property, so both sides are anxious for a settlement to the dispute.

The old Hart Lodge road will remain open to pedestrian traffic in the event of a closure.

Pool filling too costly

Minden residents using the fire department's tanker truck to fill their swimming pools have been getting too good a deal, says the executive of the newly-formed Minden Utilities Commission, and the department has now agreed that the practice must be stopped.

Councillor Ed Pergolas, chief officer of the Minden Utilities Commission, told deputy reeve Doug Pritchard at a meeting last week that the cost of supplying chlorinated water to pool owners was not being covered by the fee being charged by the fire department, and that the commission has decided to crack down on the service.

Pritchard, who oversees the operation of the department for the municipality, told Pergolas that the commission was interfering in the department's business, but he later conceded that the practice should be discontinued.

According to Pergolas, pools may require as much as 20,000 gallons to be filled, an amount that is not covered by the $50 fee currently being charged. In an interview Monday, Pritchard conceded that the service could be costing the municipality too much. "Using the department equipment to fill private pools has been a municipal policy for some time," Pritchard said Monday, "but the policy has gotten a little out of date. We've filled three or four this year so far, but we won't be filling anymore". Pritchard added that using water from the drinking system for filling pools could cause a water

Taxpayer fuming over Rockcliffe noise

The anti-noise issue surrounding the Rockcliffe Hotel resurfaced again last week when an angry taxpayer presented his tax bill to Minden council and told Reeve Lloyd Walker to "put it in the bottom drawer" along with the anti-noise bylaw.

Minden ratepayer Gord Monk met with council last Wednesday to air his complaints about the noise made by rock bands at the Rockcliffe Hotel. "You've put the anti-noise by-law in the bottom drawer, so you can put this in with it," Monk told Walker while throwing his tax bill on the council table.

Monk was referring to comments made by Walker at a meeting earlier this year, when the Reeve told Rockcliffe owner Dave Willis that he was willing to put the anti-noise by-law in the bottom drawer and let the OPP handle any complaints issued against the hotel.

Willis' application for exemption to the by-law was rejected by council some months later.

Monk told council that, although his hours of business at the funeral home in Minden are 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., they are not strict, and noise from the hotel often interferes

Approval given for camps for fishermen on Snake Lake

Fishermen on the Snake Lakes in Anson township will soon be sleeping in comfort. Stanton Airways of Orillia, the company that operates a fish camp on the upper and lower Snake Lakes, has received approval to construct permanent tent platforms on one site to make life easier for the bass fishermen that fly in to the area.

Stanton Airways has operated the fly-in camp on the Snake Lakes for several years, giving anglers access to the excellent bass fishing on the lake. By installing permanent wooden platforms on which to pitch tents, the company will improve its operation while the Ministry of Natural Resources will be assured of greater environmental control of the area.

"The tenting floors will be a little more permanent than the operation as it exists now," says Dennis Simmons, lands and parks technician with the Minden office of the MNR. "The Stanton group has been flying people in with tents for some time, but this new arrangement will limit the areas they can use, which in turn will give us greater control over garbage accumulation." Simmons says that if MNR and Health Unit regulations are not met by the camp operators, the MNR can withdraw the land use permit which allows the camp to remain open.

According to Simmons, canvas tops must be off the platforms by October 15 each year, which will ensure that the sites are not being used for anything other than fishing. The Snake Lakes camp is one of six operating in this district of the MNR; some of the others already have plywood tent platforms in use.

MNR regulations do not allow fly-in camps on lakes that are accessible to the public. In addition, Simmons says, all camps are for bass fishing only; camps are not allowed to be established on lakes with a significant trout fishery.

3 month term for break-in

A Lindsay youth has been sentenced to three months in jail after being convicted of a break-in in Snowdon Township.

Eighteen year old Robert Peacock appeared in Provincial Court in Minden July 13, charged with stealing rifles and chainsaws from a Snowdon township residence in December of last year. Peacock was sentenced to three months after pleading guilty to the robbery and was placed on probation for two years.

The stolen goods were valued at $400.

Four accidents

July 17 was a tough day for drivers in the Minden area. Four separate accidents caused $15,000 in damage, but no one was seriously injured in the mishaps.

The action began at 12:30 a.m. Saturday. Eighteen year old Paul Madill of Clinton was driving on Highway 121 east of Tory Hill when his 1980 Plymouth left the road and rolled down an embankment onto its side. Madill and his 18 year old passenger Rene Cote, also of Clinton, received minor injuries in the crash, which also caused $1000 damage to the car.

Madill was charged by P.C. Bob Pearson with careless driving.

At 8:55 that morning, a two car collision in Carnarvon caused over $10,000 in damage to the vehicles involved. Christine Neave, 17, of Pickering, was northbound on Highway 35 when her car collided with a 1981 Buick being driven by 17 year old Mark Plant of Willowdale. Plant and his three passengers all received slight injuries in the incident. Plant, who was pulling onto Highway 35 from Highway 118 at the time of the crash, was later charged with failing to yield the right of way. The incident was investigated by P.C. Boyd Jarvis.

Saturday afternoon at 3:45, another two-car crash interrupted a day's drive for two men in Dudley township. Joseph Horton, 21, of Oakville, collided with a 1979 Ford being driven by Clifford Bradbury of Drag Lake on Harburn Road. Horton's 1977 Pontiac sustained $1,000 in damages, Bradbury's Ford escaped with only $500 worth of bumps and bruises.

Horton was charged with failing to yield by Constable Dennis Potter.

Two Agincourt residents were shaken up on Kushog Lake Road in Stanhope township on Saturday night at 10:30 when they rolled their 1981 Chevrolet into a ditch. Paul LeGrand, 24, and Lisa LeGrand were both slightly injured when the car came to rest on its roof. No charges were laid in the incident, which was investigated by P.C. Dennis Potter.

shortage during extreme dry weather.

According to Pergolas, he first became aware of the practice when Gene Newell of the Minden Water System reported a huge drop in pressure while running a check on gauges one night recently. Newell thought the drop would have been caused by a broken main, but found that the tanker truck was being filled in order to fill a pool. When contacted by The Times Monday, Newell would not say whether he knew of the practice beforehand, although he did say he would be discussing the matter with council soon. "I guess it was some kind of misconception," Newell said of his association with the fire department on the issue.

with his business. "This is ridiculous," Monk said of the noise situation at the hotel. "I don't want to see the municipality go through another court case, but enough is enough. There has to be some fair play somewhere." Monk also told the group that a Niagara Falls hotel owner visiting the funeral home last week had said he was "amazed" at the noise levels and did not know how the Rockcliffe could get away with it in the community. "It's a damned disgrace," Monk said, "and everyone who hears the noise at my business agrees."

Walker told Monk that he had suggested ignoring the by-law in order that the OPP could handle the issue, but Monk replied that he would have to lay a criminal charge of creating a public offence against Willis before the hotel could be charged.

Monk was told by council that before the municipality could act on his complaint he would have to submit a letter to council. By-law enforcement officer Dick Schell added that he was expecting another letter of complaint to be submitted to the municipality soon.

Before leaving the meeting, Monk asked council, "If a letter of complaint comes in, are you sure it won't go in the bottom drawer too?"

MTC will improve hazardous turn

A dangerous intersection at Highway 35 and Lutterworth boundary road will soon receive attention from the Ministry of Transport.

The sharp turn from the highway onto the Lutterworth road has created a hazard for school buses using the route, forcing drivers to swing buses into oncoming lanes to negotiate the turn. Representatives from Lutterworth and Minden council and the OPP inspected the site earlier this year, and approached the Huntsville office of the MTC for help in cleaning up the hazard.

Minden council has now learned that the Ministry will be widening the approach to the turn when repaving work is begun on Highway 35 this summer. MTC officials in Huntsville say shoulders will be widened at the turn and more pavement laid down. Highway 35, meanwhile, will be resurfaced from the Victoria County boundary to the exit for Highway 121 South.

Thoughts on November

This is a municipal election year in Ontario. This November electors will pass judgement on the performance of the present members of council who allow their names to stand for re-election and assess the ability and ideas of untried newcomers.

The 1982 municipal election will carry with it special significance for a number of reasons. The state of the Canadian and world economy will make the next term a challenge for municipal managers. With federal and provincial governments sinking deeper into debt, it is likely these senior levels will be increasingly reluctant to enter into cost-sharing programs with municipalities. Indeed, municipal councils can expect to see tighter controls placed on existing programs as the federal and provincial authorities scramble to reduce the mounting debt.

The result will be increased pressure on property owners to carry a larger portion of municipal costs. Raising taxes may be an easy answer, but we suspect most ratepayers would prefer to see cost cutting and tighter money management. Those elected to council positions, whether municipal or on boards of education, will have to be able to deal with the financial problems which our economy will create.

This year, for the first time in the province's history, municipal officials will be elected for a three year term. The merits of the longer term need not be debated here as the province delivered a fait accompli earlier this year in approving the extra year for municipal positions. Suffice to say the extra year could mean increased problems if an ineffective council is installed. Careful consideration by voters in November will ensure the municipality is not set adrift for the next three years.

In an area such as Haliburton County, with its mixture of permanent and seasonal residents, it is important that everyone has a chance to assess all the candidates. It may be too early for election hopefuls to undertake a full-blown campaign, but it is not too early for them to indicate their interest in running for an office.

In doing so, they will give seasonal residents an opportunity to meet the individuals seeking their support, the result being a better informed electorate. We believe that candidates who declare their intentions early demonstrate their genuine concern for the electorate and the community.

It's not too early to start thinking about November.

The creeping federal deficit

-by Bill Scott, M.P.-

The Federal Government has not balanced its books since the 1960-70 fiscal year, and is not likely to do so in the near future.

The myth that has been used by successive Liberal administrations since 1979 is that "Deficit Spending is Good for Economic Growth". Let us look at the analogy to a family. If a household spends more than its income in any given month then it must either find another source of income to pay the bills or rely upon credit to postpone their payment. In the short term, if next month you can pay back the loan or pay off the credit firm then you have no problem. A small interest charge is all you have to worry about. What happens however, when each month you must defer more payments. Pretty soon the interest charges will become as large as the original debt itself and drastic measures will be called for. No one can convince me that this household has benefited by its overspending. Similarly, the Liberal contention that "There's nothing wrong with a short-term deficit" may be valid, but when it is allowed to continue to grow for twelve years with no projected relief in sight for at least another five what is short-term about it?

With the June budget, Mr. MacEachen projected a budgetary deficit of $19.6 billion and a financial requirement of $17.1 billion for this

Editor:

Congratulations for your coverage of the Canning Lake Property Owners Association annual meeting. Your report of my remarks to the meeting were accurate.

Mr. Obee, the county engineer, disputes my figures for the lowering of the proposed new Ingoldsby bridge. The plan is on deposit at the county registry office where I examined it. The difference between the present bridge clearing for recreational boating the proposed clearance is 1.7 feet or 18.4 inches (call it 18 1/2 inches). The proposed bridge has a speed curve built into it so that one side will be lower to the water than the other. No indication is given whether the measurement is for the bottom of the speed curve. About three feet of clearance will exist above the top of the average middle size outboard. This is a threat to boating on this entire chain of lakes.

Yes, I oppose this wasteful and costly county bridge project. Most of all I am opposed to the thoughtless destruction of the old settlement of Ingoldsby and the scenic qualities of the Kashagawigamog historic narrows crossing and the tree-lined winding road along the lower end of the lake. Alternate routes are available.

I urge all thinking full-time and summer residents to oppose this insensitive and destructive project which will demolish the present bridge. Read the ad which appeared in the July 7 edition of this newspaper.

The following is an open letter to:

The District Inspector,
Eastern Region of Canada Post.

Regarding:- The Innovation of Disproportionate Rent for Post Box Holders, who are on a Rural Route.

This is the most arrogant example of bureaucratic blackmail, we have ever been subjected to, without adequate reason! Why should post box holders be penalised for exercising their freedom of choice, even though they happen to live on a rural route?

It is a sad reflection on the state of the post office, that it must descend to this method of appearing to improve its income, when the cost of mail has escalated out of proportion to the service provided, except in local rural stations!!

The post office will of course suffer the loss, in the long term, as it will lose an existing consistent income, which will not be replaced in areas of this size.

We remember with nostalgia, the period before 1939, when mail, particularly from overseas and remote parts of Canada, arrived more promptly and considerably cheaper than now!!!

At that time Canada had achieved the reputation of one of the best postal systems in the world!

Teachers in the classroom

Special Education comes to the Haliburton curriculum

Ever since the recent passing of Bill 82, special education has become an increasingly important part of the public school curriculum in Haliburton County. Intended to become part of the Education Act, Bill 82 stipulates that "all exceptional" pupils will be provided with an education suited to their particular needs and abilities by the Board of Education in their jurisdiction.

While the idea is admirable, its implementation for individual school boards in the province is not easy. The essential problem is this - what is an "exceptional" student, and how can his or her educational needs best be met? Seventy-one teachers in Haliburton county are considering the question in depth this summer. They are part of a course in special education taking place at Haliburton's Senior Elementary school all this month.

Roughly half of the 71 teachers enrolled in the special education course teach in Haliburton county schools, while others come mostly from Victoria and Hastings counties. They are all putting in full days in the four-week course, taking classes from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. five days a week. The special ed course is more than lectures, however; research papers, presentations and a final examination are all part of the process that will give teachers special education certification on their Ontario Teachers' certificate, which will allow them to teach special ed classes.

The special ed course is divided into parts I and II. While teachers enrolled in Part I will learn skills in identifying and evaluating the often difficult characteristics of learning disabilities in exceptional students, those enrolled in Part II will work on developing and implementing programs and general strategies for educating special students. Development resources for teachers and support services for students are also considered in depth.

Special Ed. deals with pupils at both ends of the spectrum.

The problem of identifying "exceptional" students is the main challenge teachers face during their four weeks of study. Says McKay Brydon, vice-principal of the Senior Elementary school and director of the course, "Special ed deals with pupils at both ends of the spectrum, both those with learning difficulties and those who are more gifted than the average child. We're trying to give teachers a better understanding of these students; the behavioural, intellectual and physical exceptionalities that are found in students everywhere in the system".

One elementary school teacher who is enrolled in Part I of the special ed classes, sees the course more as one of philosophy than method. "The course concerns the philosophy of special education more than any specific teaching methodology. The process is really one of looking at a child and analyzing the particular nature of his or her problems. In the end you realize that the same teaching practices that apply to an "exceptional" student can be applied to any student, gifted, disabled or otherwise. It's an important approach to teaching of any kind."

Appropriately, the course is taught primarily by teachers teaching teachers. John Fitzgerald and Rosemary Mallott, who teach at the HHSS and Victoria Street Schools respectively, are the two instructors of the Part I programme. Doreen Kronick, a York professor and a highly respected authority in the area of special ed, instructs both Part I and Part II classes, along with Peel County secondary teacher Corinne Manley, and Mary Hicks, a special ed consultant with the Peel County Board of Education. Mrs. Kronick is also the founder of Towhee Camp on Lake Placid, a recreational centre for children with learning disabilities.

For McKay Brydon, the experience of directing the course has been a valuable look at the other side of teaching, the students' side. "It's a very different view from the other side of the desk," Brydon says. "These teachers are all working hard. They're writing papers, making presentations and facing a big final exam. Once the classroom hours are over there are texts to be studied and notes to be reviewed". Most, says Brydon, are putting in 12 hour days during the 4 weeks of the course.

The spirit behind the aims of special ed really stems from Bill 82. Where exceptional students have often been overlooked and consequently undereducated - by the public school system, the new bill decrees that all school boards in the province must provide exceptional students with an education suited to his or her needs and abilities. The working force behind special ed is the Identification, Placement and Review Committee. Once an exceptional student has been identified by a teacher, the committee input is also identified as a key element in Bill 82. They are consulted in each step of the process of identifying and placing exceptional students.

The unique nature of any child's abilities defies a rigid system for teaching exceptional students. Says Brydon, "We're geared to the public system, so we have to work within the constraints of that system's resources, what we can offer. And often it's a case, not of the student being unable to learn, but of the system just not delivering the goods. This programme is designed to investigate ways of providing for those students. An exceptional student can be one that is particularly gifted, or has difficulty reading, or conceptual handicaps."

This is the first year a course in special ed has been offered in Haliburton County, but it won't be the last. The Haliburton Board has definite plans to offer Part II of the course again next year, and it is presently considering introducing the third and final part of the course next year. While in

from the chamber

by Bob Stinson

Our Haliburton correspondent on "C.B.C. Radio Morning", Doug Ryan, stirred up a hornet's nest last week when he did a report on the status of the studies being done relative to the Kanawa Museum. The apparent bias shown in the interim report has raised some hackles locally, to put it mildly, and the Chamber has written the consultants to advise them of our concern.

It is accepted practice for consultants working on a study in any area to speak to the Chamber of Commerce at the outset to ensure that they are contacting the people that are known to have relative input. At no time has our Chamber been contacted by the consultants involved in this issue. Local input would appear to be minimal at this time, and by not seeking it the consultants leave themselves wide open to the suggestion that they are biased.

The fact that Trent University hired the consultants and the interim reports favours moving this attraction from the Highlands to Trent further suggests that we can't hope to get a fair shake through the present approach.

Look alive invoices

Members continue to find advertising solicitations in the mail that are designed to look like invoices. The senders are apparently catching a lot of businesses off guard with this tactic otherwise we would not see the act repeated so often.

One reaction that has been suggested to make this racket less lucrative is to carefully seal the invoice in the return envelope that they provide and mail it back to them without a cheque and without postage. The company will then have to pay three times the normal postal rate due only to find when it is opened that you have provided no remittance.

West Guilford becoming famous

The July 14 edition of the Toronto Globe and Mail carried an excellent story by Neil Campbell on the success of Bernie Nicholls in the N.H.L. and his background in the Highlands. It is topped with a picture of Bernie looking out over Pine Lake near West Guilford.

The article also goes on to say that other hockey notables have emerged from the same area in the persons of Ron Stackhouse and Craig Stamp. It speaks well of how proud we all are of Bernie and we certainly wish him continued success.

In another newspaper that crossed our desk there is a feature article about another West Guilford boy that has made it in the "big time". Greg Sisson and his two partners started their first Pizza Parlour in Hamilton in 1980 and have now parlayed that single shop into 30 Mother's Pizza Parlour and Spaghetti Houses each with annual sales of more than 1 million dollars. They also have locations opened in Buffalo, Washington D.C. and Columbus, Ohio.

Letters - we get letters!

Two years ago we received a letter in an envelope that we have saved and displayed with some pride. The envelope was simply addressed to the "Canada Chamber of Commerce, Ontario, Canada." Someone in the employ of the post office had written in red pencil "Try Hwy. 35., Minden, Ontario", and of course we subsequently received it. We forwarded the letter to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce but kept the envelope as a prize.

Somehow our fame has spread all the way to West Africa now because this week we received the following letter that we would like to share with you here:

Takoradi, Ghana,
West Africa

Dear Sir:

I am very glad to write you this my humble letter. I hope this my letter is going to be faithfully to you.

But before I say my few words I must ask of your present condition of health.

Please Sir, I like you to post me more Books, Pens and Badges about Canada because in all over the world and I want to know more about Canada.

Please Sir, tray as much as possible to send me more Books, Pens and Badges about Canada my best country lend here with much happines.

Thank you, Good Bye, Sir.

We can't help him with the pens but we are searching for an old "Haliburton is For Lovers" button to send him along with our book before we forward this letter to the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation.

Chamber Newsletters are being mailed this week to all members. Watch for yours and if it does not arrive within a few days let us know right away so that we can correct it.

Summer soccer league planned

Minden and area youths will get an opportunity to try their feet at soccer this summer.

A program for youngsters between the ages of 7 and 14 is being organized for the month of August. Jim Milne, a teacher from Haliburton, and Minden councillor Ed Pergolas are attempting to get the program off the ground here.

Milne has been a major force behind a similar program in Haliburton which has attracted close to 30 players. They meet twice a week to learn soccer skills and take part in games. The teams are chosen by random selection.

If there is enough interest shown in Minden for the sport, the organizers hope to have at least one night a week for the game. Additional nights will be added as interest grows.

Milne noted that they would like several adults with an interest in the sport to help organize the practices and games and assist with the program. Anyone interested in helping out can attend registration night or get in contact with the organizers in advance.

The program is open to boys, girls and summer residents. Registration will be held July 30 at Archie Stouffer School at 7 p.m. The night for play will be decided at that time and those who miss registration will still be able to take part.

The Minden program will run until the end of August and could include a number of games with the teams in Haliburton.

The sounds of summer include not only the babble of poolside parties and the whine of tourist's tires, but many of the sounds of nature as well. One of the more persistent of these sounds is the high-pitched buzzing of the cicada, floating down from the tree-tops in deciduous woods.

Cicadas are rather large bugs, but tiny compared to their sound. It is only the males that make the piercing buzz. On the sides of his abdomen, each male has a pair of drum-like organs called tymbals, which stretch over resonance chambers within the body. When the cicada contracts the attached muscle, the tymbal buckles inward like a tin lid, producing a loud click as it does so. This sound is magnified by the resonance of the air sacs, which can be "fine-tuned" for maximum volume by raising or lowering the abdomen.

Female cicadas, which are silent, deposit their eggs on nearby twigs and bushes. When the nymphs hatch, they drop to the ground and burrow in the soil, where they feed on the juice of roots. These nymphs often stay in the soil for considerable time, before emerging to split their skins and emerge as membruous-winged adults. One species, known as the periodical cicada, regularly spends seventeen years below the soil. When these nymphs emerge in clusters in the late spring, their sudden appearance has been held to be a forewarning of war. However, in many areas there are several colonies on different time schedules occupying the same trees, so that adults emerge much more frequently.

The purpose of a cicada's song is apparently the same as most insects - proclaiming its territory, and attracting its mates. This function is strengthened by the tendency of each species of cicada to sing in chorus at different times of the day, thereby keeping each of the insects in touch with his fellows.

Canning Lake tourney

The Canning Lake Property Owners golf tournament was held Sunday at the Beaverbrook Golf Course. Some 24 golfers took part in the one day event.

Robert Gray was the winning golfer with a score of 41. The low net went to Marty Hall with a 36 1/2 score. Second low gross was Gerry McGillen with 42; second low net Rick Primeau 36; third low gross Blair Heslop 43; and third low net Paul Sobreira with a 37 1/2.

Hot shot

It wasn't the intense heat of the summer that browned the grass, but rather his superlative play that left experienced players shaking their heads in wonder.

Charlie Martin, a visitor from Brockville who is spending some time at the Northern Eagle Tent and Trailer Park, completed the par 35 Beaverbrook course with a score of 29. He scored par on three of the nine holes and birdied the other six. His score for the round was: 4-3-4-4-4-2-3-2-3.

Course owner Dave Stevens said it was one of the best rounds played at Beaverbrook.

year. No measures were introduced to decrease these figures. What is the cost of this continued deficit financing? In real dollars, the interest on this national debt will cost every taxpayer in Canada $1,864.00 this year. This is the portion of your income that is used to pay for the Government's attitude that "there is nothing wrong with having a large national debt."

As a result of the rising public debt today one dollar in three is needed to service the debt. The deficit is now equal to 25% of total spending. This leaves the Government with no flexibility to undertake significant fiscal measures to spur recovery. The June 28th budget is proof of the boxed-in situation the government put itself in. If the books had been in balance for every year since 1969-70, excluding this year, the financial requirements would be closer to the $1.9 billion of that year than the $17.1 billion now required and the interest charged per capita would be closer to $70 than the projected $723.

In 1981, Federal Government borrowing accounted for 44% of the net new security issues placed in Canada. The Government already has $10.2 billion in borrowing authority this year and is asking, in Bill C-125, for an additional $11 billion. It is of note that this $21.2 billion is quite a bit higher than the $17.1 billion projected in the budget. This 44% figure of '81 will obviously be exceeded this year. In this atmosphere interest rates rise and the productive private sector continue to be crowded out of the money markets. This is de-stimulation to invest.

As we saw after June 28, the investment community does not trust this Government. This was evidenced by the further decline of the dollar and the drop of the stock-markets. How can they trust a Government that continues to live so far beyond its means? Why would they want to hold a currency that continues to be debased by excessive Government borrowing? The Federal Liberal Government must be convinced that the money they are spending belongs to all Canadians, not to them, and that we are tired of paying for their inability to spend it wisely.

The Times

spot the shot contest

Each week during the summer, we'll publish a photograph, like the one below, of a familiar scene in the Haliburton Highlands. All you have to do is identify the scene and you could win

$20 gift certificate

redeemable at either the Minden or Haliburton

Foodmaster.

The winner will be chosen by lot from all the correct entries received by the closing date. Entries can be dropped off at The Times office Minden, sent to Box 97, Minden or placed in the contest boxes at the Minden or Haliburton Red and White Foodmasters.

There will be a new contest each week, so keep your eyes peeled and try to spot the shot.

What is the name of this lake? The deadline for entries is 4 p.m. August 2. The winners will be announced in the August 4 edition of The Times. Please indicate contest number 4 on your entry.

— WINNER —

The winner of the Spot the Shot contest number two is Margarete Gerdtschke of Scarborough. She correctly identified the photograph which appeared in the July 7 edition of The Times as being a shot of Moore Lake just below the dam at Moore Falls. Congratulations Margarete. Others to correctly identify the mystery shot in contest number two were Lisa Valentine, Linda Hamilton, E. Michalik, Doris Stewart, Mabel Lehan, Gwen Hewitt, John Lehan, Carole Lehan, Susan Lehan, Stella McLean, Cathy Howe, Karen Stewart, Jackie Smith and Mary Clark.

Gretzky hits the Highlands

As the afternoon sun filters down through the trees at the Haliburton Hockey Haven camp, an intent boy streaks along the trail to the main office, hurdling obstacles and dodging bystanders.

In response to a question from a passing counsellor, he shouts over his shoulder in great haste, "Wayne wants his sun glasses." It is Wayne Gretzky day at the Haliburton Hockey Haven camp.

Down by the lake, dozens of campers are milling about, awaiting their turn to pose for a photograph with the Great Gretzky. As his eager messenger arrives, Wayne dons his sun glasses, and readies himself for another official camp photo with the boys, but the shutters never stop clicking for an instant, no matter what Wayne is doing. It is one stop on an incredibly busy summer schedule for the Edmonton Oilers star, but he still finds time to talk about the pros and cons of hockey camp.

The concept of hockey camp, Gretzky explains is as much a physical and social one as it is a close study of techniques. "The sailing, swimming, water polo, I think the kids really enjoy those parts of camp life. It's important for summer conditioning, and it's a great way to meet other players from around the province," Gretzky says. As for the hockey aspect, he warns, it is not a means to instant success on the ice. "My personal opinion on hockey camp is that kids won't learn to be stars in a week. Some parents expect it, but it's not realistic, and the general experience, the all round activities, are the important thing here," he explains.

As a young player, Gretzky

himself only went to hockey camp once; not because he didn't like hockey, but because he liked baseball too much. "By going away to camp for a week, I had to miss baseball, which I always played in the summers. It was tough to give that up," Gretzky explains as he takes a breather from what seems like an endless photo session with the boys.

Nonetheless Gretzky is no stranger to the camp circuit. After a day of activities at Haliburton Hockey Haven, Gretzky was travelling to the camp he directs in Belleville. And earlier in the summer, Gretzky spent eight days in Moscow filming instructional documentaries for the Russian youth training system. Says Gretzky of the Russian approach, "It's really exactly like we have here, only perhaps more organized."

At the Haliburton camp, Gretzky put in a solid hour and a half of ball hockey with campers, which he describes with a grin as "an awful lot of ball hockey. I still play ball hockey often, though," Gretzky explains. "I'm always playing in the off season in Edmonton with my girlfriend's brother, and of course I played all the time as a kid." Afterwards, soccer, football and a camp meal completed Gretzky's visit.

Every avenue of Gretzky's life is shaped by his hockey career. "Sports is a tremendous way of life, and a tremendous way to meet people and see places," he says, and his summer schedule attests to his beliefs. The day before Haliburton, Gretzky was strolling the streets of London, England. His tour of Europe took him to Moscow for the hockey films, Paris and Sweden. After a short stay in Toronto, Gretzky was scheduled for a day in Quebec, an afternoon on the links in the Canadian Pro Am golf tournament, and a four day celebrity tennis tourney. Then he is off to Edmonton July 31, where he'll be fulfilling his extensive promotional contracts with commercials for Phillips Electronics and Mattel, who are marketing a Wayne Gretzky doll. After filming a special with Dotty West, Gretzky flies to Vancouver August 7 for a session with Alan Thicke show. But the real pleasure will come in August, when he'll spent several weeks at a cottage outside Edmonton, skiing and relaxing before the season opens.

And in the midst of all that activity, Gretzky begins training in earnest August 1 in preparation for the September 15 start of the Oilers camp.

Undoubtedly a busy schedule, but one afternoon among the many won't be forgotten by campers at Hockey Haven.

Haliburton downs Minden Ladies

The Haliburton Ladies came from behind for a 19-16 win against the Minden club last Monday. Shiela Elston and Wanda Scott led the Haliburton team, with Nancy Maughan recording the win from the mound. Cheryl Dillon took the loss for Minden.

The same night in Wilberforce, Carnarvon went down to the home team 15-13. Chris Storey was strong for Wilberforce with four runs and strong pitching from Gail Rowbottom and Jo Olszewski proved too much for the troubled Carnarvon team, which has only one win in 18 starts this season. Lil Gorveatt was the losing pitcher.

Tuesday night was a good one for the Minden Dixie Lee team. They came from behind to beat Carnarvon at home by a score of 19-14. Barbara Barnhart and Sue Lehn led the Dixie Lee team, while Carnarvon had a good night from Michelle and Shirley Harrison. Lil Gorveatt was again at the losing end from the mound, while Ann Hewson had the win for Minden.

The Minden Juniors turned in their strongest defensive game to date to defeat West Guilford 14-7 Tuesday night. Wanda Blakey and Susan Ballantyne were the top performers for the Juniors. Andrea Burk and Lori Dunham shared the win for Minden. Joan McKay took the loss.

Thursday night saw two games in the Ladies League. A strong defensive matchup between Wilberforce and Haliburton went down to the wire, with Haliburton coming out on top by a single run, 6-5. Cindy Ablett cracked out a homer for the Wilberforce side. Nancy Maughan pitched the winner for Haliburton and Jo Olszewski took the loss.

Meanwhile, down in Minden, Dixie Lee was deep fried 13-7 by West Guilford. The visiting team went ahead 7-3 after the first three innings and held on for the win. Cheryl Cooper and Bethany Wood were strong for West Guilford and Joan McKay was in command on the mound. Nelda Cully took the loss for Dixie Lee.

The Annual Ladies Ball Tournament will get underway this weekend. The A series kicks off in Minden at 8:00 a.m. Saturday morning, with the B series beginning Saturday at 12:30 p.m.

The Hustlers socked it to the Lindsay Midgits Wednesday July 14 downing the visitors 17 to 3. The game was played at the Minden diamond and helped lift the Hustlers into second place in the Tri-County league.

Hustlers move up to second spot

After two wins last week, the Rockcliffe Hustlers have pulled into second place in the Tri-County Men's Softball League.

The Hustlers hammered the Lindsay Midgits at the Minden diamond Wednesday night by a score of 17 to 3. Big Jack Snell tossed the win for the Hustlers, while Dave Hartwick and Rick Boucher led the locals at the plate with three wins each.

Thursday was another good night for the Rockcliffe nine. The Hustlers travelled to Woodville and dealt the unassuming Merchants a 9-3 tanning. Barry Shaw was the winning pitcher for Minden and he also provided a home run for the club. Dave Nicholls and Jack Snell added three hits each for the Hustlers.

The Rockcliffe team is now sitting comfortably with a 10-3 record, but they are still eyeing the powerful Lindsay Tavern club, which is in command of the league with a 12-1 record. The Hustlers will take on Lindsay tonight (July 21) in Minden at 8 p.m. A win could pull the team to within two points of first place.

Launching country career in Canada

Standing in front of a sheet of bulletproof glass, John McCabe wonders if he has chosen the right route to stardom.

The 25 year old native of Oamaru, New Zealand, came to Canada with a twelve-string guitar fifteen months ago, intent on pursuing an insatiable thirst for country music, but there were many hurdles to clear before he could bring his music to the natives of Ontario. The bulletproof glass and the immigration official who sat behind it were two such hurdles in many exhausting trips to Buffalo, where McCabe had to endure the hard struggle for a working visa. McCabe has finally made it, winning status as a landed immigrant only three months ago and he has now made Haliburton the launching place of his career.

John McCabe at The Fireside.

"Coming to Canada was really quite a step for me," McCabe muses as he pours himself an Export at the Fireside Inn where he is performing for the summer. "I barely knew a soul when I arrived in Toronto, but I've met some great people who have been very good to me. Now that I have my status, things should really start to pick up". It was a lengthy struggle for the soft-spoken New Zealander, but with work on a new single completed in Toronto, and demo tapes circulating all over the province, McCabe's music is starting to click.

McCabe came to the Highlands after meeting Minden resident and recording star Cathy Kinsman in Toronto. The country life is not really a big switch for a boy who grew up on a sheep farm near a town of 15,000. "I'm really hooked on the country up here," McCabe explains with a characteristic grin. "I've been out canoeing and I've tried some fishing on the Gull River, so I'm getting a good taste of the life". John's initial excursion was not without incident, however. "A friend and I were paddling up the Gull, and I guess we were taking it a little easy. We got sideways in the current and before we knew it the canoe flipped and we ended up in the drink. It was quite embarrassing, really".

The Fireside Inn stand has certainly been an excellent place to launch his Canadian career. McCabe plays in the dining room Monday through Saturday, and he's found a perfect spot and a willing audience for his special brand of country.

McCabe's music has been influenced by Gordon Lightfoot, Charlie Pride, Neil Diamond and especially Ronny Milsap, and his style blends pure country with folk. Along with bassist, Dave Beare, McCabe plays a wide range of music at The Fireside, interspersing popular tunes and requests with many of his own compositions. His voice is strong and melodic and his music invariably sets toes tapping.

McCabe's move to this country was triggered by a chance encounter with Kenny Rogers. Rogers played back in 1976, while touring with the First Edition, and McCabe happened to catch the show. "It is really quite remarkable that Kenny Rogers should have played a town like Oamaru," McCabe says. "It was one stop on a large tour, and when I heard him I started looking seriously at country music," he explains. McCabe became well-known for his music in his native New Zealand before deciding to try the more fertile market in Canada. "Country music is not as popular in New Zealand as it is here," McCabe says. "The audience is really quite a small one, and once I'd become known to them all I decided to give Canada a try."

McCabe had recorded a single in New Zealand, and after remixing and recording in Toronto, the tune is now getting airtime at several stations in Canada. He now has several prospective engagements in the Highlands, as well as some dates lined up for Hamilton clubs in the fall.

The Fireside is a good beginning for McCabe, and a good opportunity for country fans in the Highlands to hear a dedicated practitioner of the art.

The Setting

There is a ninth anniversary being celebrated this year in Metropolitan Carnarvon and if you would like to be part of the festivities, you'll be more than welcome. The happy event is taking place at Mr. Fogs.

The celebration starts in the main dining room. Here, in a relaxed, intimate setting overlooking Mirror Lake, you'll enjoy such delights as Alaska Crab, Prime Ribs of Beef, or many of the other items from the full dining room menu. Each day Mr. Fogs dining room features a special dish.

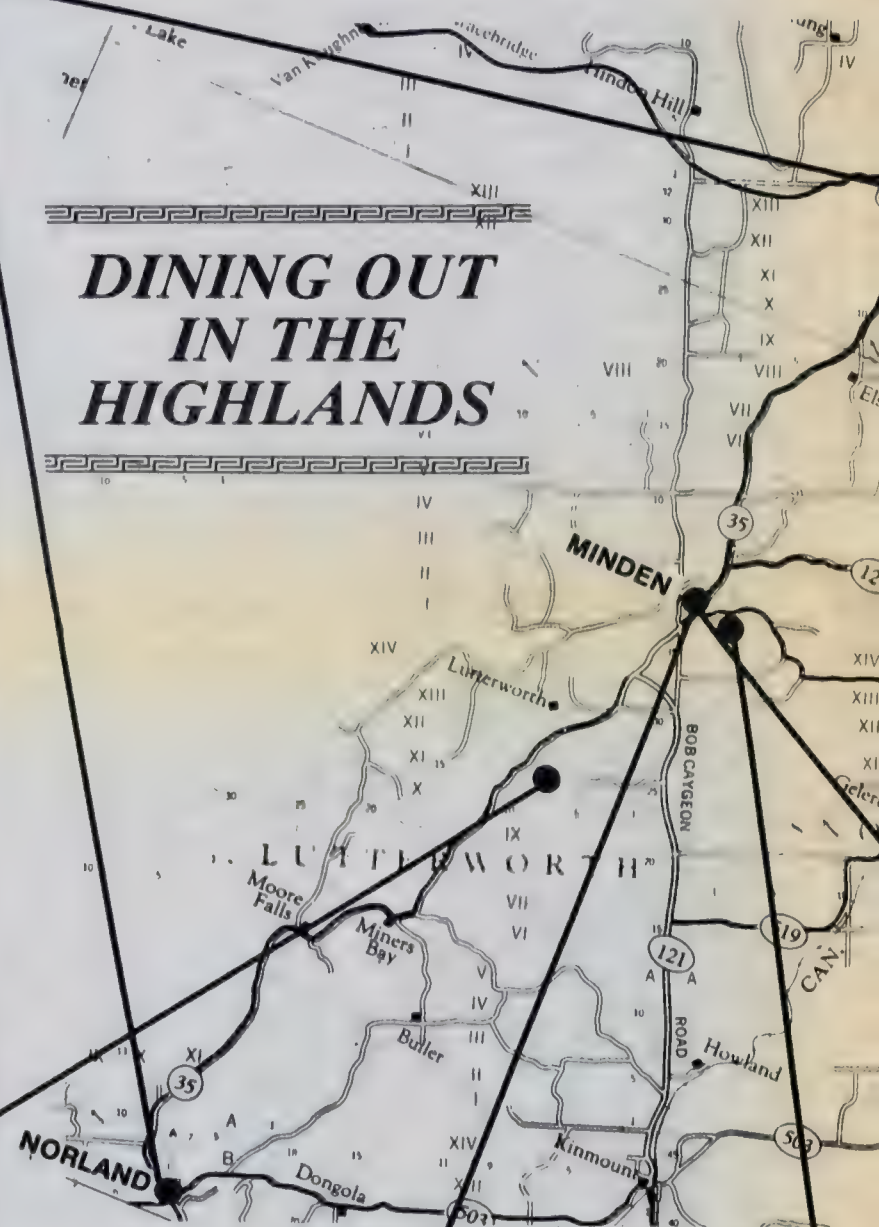

After dinner, relax with a selection from the dessert menu, topped off with coffee or your favourite liqueur. It is an enjoyable dining experience that you'll remember for a long time to come.

Interested in a little more gusto...then try the Foggy Bottom. Downstairs at Fogs, the Foggy Bottom offers good value in a more casual atmosphere. In recognition of the times in which we live, the Foggy Bottom features a soup-kitchen menu with soup, sandwiches, box lunches and the popular bottom burger. The famous Fogg Feasts are still available and still a great value. Choose between a chicken and ribs feast or a fish plate...both will delight you and your companion.

To help celebrate the grand ninth anniversary, Fogs is offering valuable discounts and surprises to holders of the Mr. Fogs Passport. You can pick up yours anytime by visiting Fogs. You'll be pleasantly surprised with the savings this document can give. Drop by Fogs and pick one up today.

Fogs is located in the pulsating heart of Metropolitan Carnarvon at the intersection of Highway 35 and 118. Open seven days a week, Fogs is fully licenced. Call 489-2211 for reservations.

Case co-ordination programme planned

The Haliburton County Local Advisory Board on Children's Services established a children's services committee to pursue a case coordination programme for special needs children in the county.

At the present moment, committee members are working diligently assembling statistical data and writing material for inclusion in a submission to the province for this programme. Belinda Brown is finalizing the job description. Gerald Bain and Cathy Pittaway are ascertaining the number of potential clients for the programme, and Blanche Turner is defining terminology. Stuart Baker, the Chairman of the committee, is preparing an annual budget, among many other tasks. The list of committee workers and their activities is extensive. What has prompted this activity?

Seventeen months ago, the Haliburton County Local Advisory Board on Children's Services (HCLAB) was formed. The board, consisting of representatives in fields of health, education, social services and justice, is designed to plan and co-ordinate services for children. After five months of work, the board wrote a comprehensive report, which was submitted to Children's Services Steering Committee, and the province, and which expressed the need for:

- enhancement of parenting

- subsidized child care services
- self-help group for teenage mothers
- provision of information and professional services through a county wide mobile unit
- employment of a full time county based case co-ordinator
- establishment of a monthly reporting system

The needs were determined by key informant interviews, an examination of case studies, and submissions by local service providers and an examination of government and locally prepared reports.

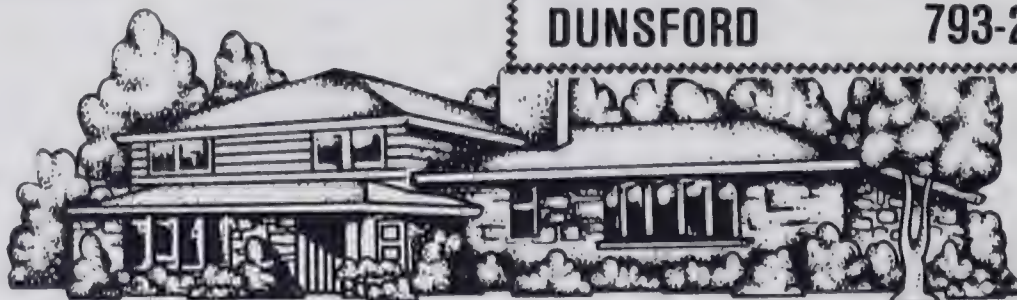

After a review process,

HCLAB received approval in principle from the province to fund the case co-ordination project in the amount of $35,000. This is not the end of the story, however. The province has requested that a formal proposal be submitted, in accordance with provincial standards, and that an administrative sponsor be selected for programme.

The Case Co-ordinator for Special Needs Children, as the proposed position is entitled, will collaborate with social and helping agencies to ensure that Haliburton County children and families receive the full range of services that they require. The co-ordinator's duties will include case management, liaison, advocacy, and promotion of an awareness of special needs children in the county. In view of the fact that the province has encouraged the local committee to pursue this venture, it is reasonable to expect that local efforts will be rewarded. Certainly, the contributions of the members of HCLAB should not go unnoticed.

A noteworthy summer

- by Danny Copeland -

Conductor Wendy Laking at work.

The Minden Molto Maestros at play.

While some elementary school students loll away the summer wondering what they are going to do next, a group of aspiring musicians have found an interesting and noteworthy way to fill some of their holidays.

They are members of the Minden Molto Maestros, a musical class held every Tuesday and Thursday at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. The group is under the direction of Miss Wendy Laking.

Having studied at the Faculty of Education at the University of Toronto, Wendy is majoring in music, and has been playing the piano since she was eight. She is also currently rehearsing with the Dixieland Band, playing both piano and clarinet.

Wendy originally applied for a job teaching arts and crafts to public school students at the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton. When she found that her application had been accepted, she enquired as to the possibility of a music course in addition to her regular work.

The principal of Archie Stouffer School was only too obliging and offered the school's auditorium and music room, complete with instruments and music, to the band.

Band auditions were held during the grade 6 and 7 music classes at Archie Stouffer

School before the end of the school year in June. All of the 22 auditioners were accepted, but due to transportation problems only 16 have been able to attend on a regular basis.

The sixteen players include Ronni Rendall and Sylvia Wingat on flute, Leigh Amyotte, Laura Cross, Julia Holliday-Rhodes, Carole Lacey and Michelle Warnes on clarinet, Gail Barnhart, Richard Beers and Tom Stephen on alto sax, Ian Hicks, Graham Robinson and Gord Wood on trumpet, Brad Archer on trombone, Corry Ziorjen on baritone and David Schell on the tuba.

The classes are funded through a government grant and the Archie Stouffer Home and School Association has also raised the sum of $100 to be donated to the music program.

The result of the band's 2 day a week rehearsal schedule will be heard in two performances to be held at the end of August. One will be held in Haliburton and the other in Minden. Details of the concert will be announced next month.

So, for at least 16 area students, summer means more than idle hours. Not only are they taking part in an enjoyable program, but they are also improving their musical knowledge. We look forward to hearing the results of their summer study.

Agriculture is big business in Victoria County

The results of the 1981 Census are now becoming available.

Agriculture in Victoria County is big business. In fact, $60 million worth of food products were sold by Victoria County farmers in the 12 months prior to the Census Day a year ago.

The number of census farms in Victoria County is 1848. Of these, 1485 sold over $2500 worth of food products. 450 farms had sales of over $25,000.

1560 farms were over 70 acres in size. The area of improved farm land in Victoria County is about 225,000 acres, with 150,000 acres in crops, and the other 75,000 acres being mainly improved pasture.

Beef cattle continue to be the most popular major enterprise, with 850 farmers raising beef in Victoria County.

In second place we find dairy cattle, with 193 farms classed as dairy producers. Cash crops continue to increase in popularity with 187 farms now listing cash grain crops as their main enterprise.

84 farms have duck

production as their major enterprise. 15 county farms have poultry and 13 are classed as fruit and vegetable producers.

The other 143 farms are classed as miscellaneous speciality or as mixed farms. Included in this group would be sheep, goat and horse farms, and those farms which are well diversified and have several major enterprises.

There are a total of 51 Counties in all of Ontario. How does Victoria rank with the others?

In number of farms Victoria stands 17th. In amount of farm land, we're 12th; in amount of crop land, we're 18th. In the total sale of food products, Victoria is 22nd.

In the number of farms with beef cattle as the major enterprise, Victoria stands 6th in the Province.

So the 1981 Census confirms again that agriculture is big business in Victoria County.

This office also serves the farmers in Haliburton County - and there has been a major increase in the size of the farming industry in that County since the last Census.

There are only 92 farms in Haliburton, but 46 of them are now producing over $2500 of food products, with the total value of sales being almost $600,000.

Over 6000 acres of land is now classed as improved farm land, with 2000 acres in crops.

Of the 46 Haliburton farms with sales over $2500, 4 have dairy cattle, 25 have beef cattle, 13 have a mixture of enterprises, 2 have hogs and one each have poultry and field crops.

Gregg Feltham leaves for year overseas

In less than a week's time a young representative of Minden and Canada will be stepping off a jet to begin a year-long experience in the land of windmills and wooden shoes.

Gregg Feltham, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Feltham of Ingoldsby leaves Tuesday as the latest exchange student sponsored by the Minden Rotary Club. He will be spending his year overseas in the Netherlands.

Holland was not Gregg's first choice, but he is nonetheless looking forward to what lies ahead. "I had chosen Belgium as my first destination," Gregg said Monday evening. "I was interested in expanding my knowledge of French and felt I could accomplish that there."

While the international Rotary committee which co-ordinates these student exchanges attempts to ensure that participants travel to the country of his or her choice, logistics of ten mean second or third choices must be made before a vacancy could be found.

Gregg chose Holland second and Sweden third. "I was particularly interested in spending the year in Europe," Gregg commented. "It is easy to travel to many other countries and gives me a chance to try different languages and cultures."

Gregg's interest in the Rotary student exchange program grew when he met a number of overseas students at high school. His interest was piqued in talking to the students who were spending a year in Minden or Haliburton and in talking to local students who had travelled overseas on the program. Last year he decided to complete his application and was successful.

Gregg will be living in Castricum, a community northwest of Amsterdam on the North Sea. Gregg will be the first exchange student hosted by the Castricum Rotary Club. There he will be housed with families of the local Rotary Club and will attend school at a local school. He just completed grade 12 at HHSS.

Since he heard he had been accepted as the exchange student, Gregg has been learning about his new home. He has also met with other students, from Canada and overseas, to exchange ideas. "I've already established contacts in a number of European countries," Gregg noted.

The student from Minden will be taking a little bit of Canada with him. He has a number of Canadian mementos to distribute to his new friends. Included in his luggage is Haliburton County's sweet spring treat, maple syrup. Gregg also has a set of slides of Minden and Canada which he's prepared to show to Rotary Club members overseas.

While Gregg may not be travelling to his first choice destination, he is still excited about his July 27 departure. "I don't think it is that important what specific country I'm going to. It's the experience you encounter in your travels that makes your trip. I'm looking forward to it."

Readers of The Times will be able to share the experiences of Gregg during the coming year. He will be sending back reports which will be published from time to time in The Times.

Another week has gone swiftly by since we penned you a line. We thought we would let you know that we are doing fine.

We haven't taken a bus trip the last few days, but we have been entertained in many different ways.

Our gazebo is taking shape. They have got the frame up. The next thing is to give the thing a name.

Mrs. Oliver's granddaughter and husband, who were married back in June, came to visit their grandmother Saturday afternoon.

Carrie Jones birthday is on the twelfth of July. She used to walk in the Orange Parade when she was young and spry. Now she is glad she is able to walk three times a day up to the table.

It was nice to see the Thompsons back with us on Sunday night. If we don't have music, the service doesn't seem just right. Harold reads the lesson, then he offers prayer, and then Rev. Burgess takes over from there. He always has a real interesting message and gives it with great vim, and then we close the service with a good old rousing hymn.

Our sincere sympathy to the family and friends of Mrs. Ethel McDonald, who passed away here at Hyland Crest.

Rev. Wicks, of the Minden Gospel Church took the service here this thirteenth day of July. He said we all should be ready when we don't know the day or the hour, when Jesus is coming again. It is nice to have Mrs. Taylor back with us once more to play and lead the singing as she often did before.

Thursday afternoon a group of children from Hamilton came down to Hyland Crest to entertain us for a while. They were our welcome guests. They are staying at the Kinsman's lovely place on the shore of Big Boshkung. They entertained us royally with Scottish dancing and song, also piano numbers, and flute and violins. They were grand entertainers. We hope they'll come again.

Watched two interesting movies again Monday night. Linda always stays to see the job's done right.

The Fearrey's came on Tuesday night, and entertained us fine. They played and sang some good old tunes like, "I'm just a lonely cowboy", and "He's nobody's darling but mine".

Wednesday night is games night here at Hyland Crest - to beat our opponents we do our very best.

The ladies from Lutterworth Pines brought in a lovely lunch this Thursday afternoon. We thanked them for coming, and we played some merry tunes.

Bingo is put on here each Thursday night by members of the Kinsman Club, who do the job just right.

It is sing-song time again, but it's so blooming hot. Maybe they'll come to sing and play, and maybe they will not. But Grace and Norma came to play and sing for us. They seem to do it without a lot of fuss. Grace read two humorous poems, and sang three numbers from "Sound of Music", which was simply grand. We thank them for coming by giving them a good hand.

Where Beauty Dwells
A well kept garden filled with flowers has no room left for weeds to share. The mind keeps out unworthy thoughts when loveliness is dwelling there.

NOTICE

Legion news Branch 129

- by Helen Johnson -

Greetings Comrades. Your branch is very busy these days. We have had a very successful awards night for our high school students. Also a very nice evening of awards, etc. for our Ladies Auxiliary, at which branch members did an exceptional job of serving and cleaning up. The girls were well pleased.

The big excitement of this week is our Annual Carnival, Wednesday evening, July 21, beginning at 6 p.m. It is a carnival for all ages, bingo at the Legion hall - pay as you play, or dancing and hospitality centre for adults under special occasion permit. So if possible, take your friends and support your branch.

The branch building is being re-decorated this summer and should be completed by September.

The downstairs club room is being redecorated to allow games room and social room for dancing etc. on Friday and Saturday evenings.

This summer we have some excellent music for dancing on Friday and Saturday. It is being provided by guest pianists.

July music is by Bob Mason and Bob Pochochi. Take advantage of this excellent entertainment provided by your branch.

Sports at the branch needs an uplift. We have darts, pool and shuffleboard. These are all available in the club room. We would like to have some teams for inter-club sports in the fall and we need some members. Hopefully we will even have a ladies pool team with lessons for new players.

Mrs. Pearl Lee of Maple Lake spent a pleasant weekend in Toronto with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harrison and son Greg of Maple Lake, motored to Brampton last weekend to attend the wedding of their grandson Toni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Walker, who was united in marriage to Ann Rose McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McLaughlin of Brampton. The bride looked lovely in a white silk dress with matching jacket trimmed with lace. Her floor length veil was held by a headdress made of pearls and lace. Her best friend Pat was her matron of honour and was dressed in pale pink with matching picture hat. Her three bridesmaids were in pale mauve also with matching hats. They each carried bouquets made up of roses, carnations, orchids and ferns. The best man was Toni's college friend, Bill Thompson of Woodbridge. There were four ushers, the groom's two brothers and two close friends attired in soft grey-blue tuxedos. The reception was held at Loafer's Lake Recreational Centre. Out of town guests were relatives and friends from Ireland, Connecticut, Boston, Mass., New Brunswick, Toronto and Sault Ste. Marie. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts and are now on a three week honeymoon. Our congratulations and best wishes to Toni and Ann Rose.

A group of members from Beaverbrook Golf Course attended a lovely buffet supper and presentation at the home of Grace and Lorne Coburn for David Stevens and his new bride, Sonia. Our best wishes to them both.

I am sorry to report the deaths of Mrs. Georgina Young of Kinmount, and Mr. Fred Reynolds of Lindsay. Our deepest sympathy to their families and friends.

The Thrift Shop at St. Paul's Parish will be open this Friday from 1:30 to 4 p.m. The ladies hope to have the Thrift Shop open every Friday afternoon.

The Reverend and Mrs. Sharpe of Gull Lake entertained guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ross from Michigan over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Madge of Guelph spent the weekend with Major and Mrs. Glynne Lewis. Mrs. Madge is the granddaughter of Lyndsie's sister, Audrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sears visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sears this past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duggan of Scarborough visited with Mrs. Daisy Bates last week.

The Lutterworth Yard Sale, held last Saturday at Lutterworth Estates, was a huge success. People were on hand as early as 8 a.m. to take advantage of the great buys.

The exhibition of the paintings by artist Bruce Mills is currently on display at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery and is well worth viewing. The Gallery is open daily except Sunday, from 10 to 12 and from 1 to 5 p.m. On Thursday, the Gallery is open at noon and from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Dorothea Whittemore has returned to Chester, England after an enjoyable three week vacation with her daughter, son-in-law and granddaughter Dr. Peter and Sue Bennett and Misty.

A show by the Deckhand puppeteers will be held in the Common Room of the Minden Cultural Centre on Thursday, July 22 at 3 p.m. The puppeteers are from Peterborough. The show is free and everyone is welcome. During the summer, movies will be held in the Common Room every Friday evening starting at 7:15 p.m. The movies are free and consist of stories and cartoons.

Sunset Reverie

At dusk I sit and listen to the silence of the lake
And watch the muted wavelets softly wash against the shore.

A solitary skiff drifts aimlessly at anchor
Trailing as it turns, one silver oar.
Overhead the sky's alive with colour,
Like a lover's passion bursts aflame
Lazily a dragonfly skims by me

Circling to return from whence he came.
Perfume of the pines invades my senses
All along the shore they strongly stand,
Casting dark reflections in the water,
Sentinels guarding our beloved land.
Suddenly my reverie is interrupted
By a flash of trout there leaping high
And somewhere in far-off misty treetops
The mournful sounding of a nightbird's cry!

Juvenile Fiction

Title: Come Back Peter.
Author: Joan Woodberry.

This is a simple story of 3 boys, one an aborigine, a goat, a cockatoo, a little girl, a baby and a horse. Set in Australia, it tells how the one family reached safety with their neighbours. Gives good details of every-day life "Down Under".

Juvenile Non-Fiction

Title: Arts and Crafts You Can Eat. Author: Vicki Cobb.

One project in this book is done with coloured milk on sandwiches, another is a gingerbread horse on a stick. Many more simple things which can be done by a youngster on a rainy day.

Adult Fiction

Title: The Proud Breed.
Author: Celeste De Blasis.

The Proud Breed is first and last a story of the enduring love between a strong woman and an equally strong man, a love tempered by time and grief and joy. It is also about their intense love affair with the Californios and the land-hungry Yankees and outsiders who would annex the territory and forever alter the gentle, peaceful Californio way of life. At its heart stand Tessa and Gavin Ramsay.

Tessa black-haired, violet-eyed and fiercely independent daughter of Californio aristocrat and English blood, herself represents the conflicting strains converging on the wild, lovely and equally untamed territory. And Gavin Ramsay, strong, resourceful and courageous Yankee trader, is Tessa's proper match in pride and mettle.

The Proud Breed is a story of a family dynasty, a sweeping three-generational saga of the making of California. Writing with superb and storytelling gifts and that passion for her native California that gives the saga its grand sweep, rich texture and absolute authenticity, Celeste De Blasis has created characters whose destiny will echo in the reader's heart and mind.

Adult Non-Fiction

Title: In Search Of Your Family Tree. Author: Harold Kelley.

If you are interested in researching your family history, this is an excellent book. It lists the places to help you look for birth and death certificates, what organizations can help you and also how to have your family history published.

Hi kids. We are going to show you how to make a simple kite with straws, tissue paper and string. Have lots of fun with it. If you want to learn more crafts and hear a story, come to the Lutterworth Library every Thursday at 2 p.m. See you there.

1 square of tissue
6 straws
string long enough to fly a kite
Roll a straw along four sides of the paper and glue. Tuck the corners in or cut off. Glue two straws across the centre. Attach the string to the centre of the straws. You are now ready to fly your kite. Have fun.

IN MEMORIAM

MISCIO - In loving memory of a dear brother, Petrol, who passed away July 20, 1979.

Three years ago I had to part With a brother I loved with all my heart. Forget him, no, I never will. His memory is with me still. These words come, with sad regret From the heart of a sister Who will never forget.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Sister Ruby and Brother-in-law Ellwood and family

MISCIO - In loving memory of my dear son, Petrol, who passed away July 20, 1979.

A sadness still comes over us, Tears in silence often flow. Memory keeps you ever near us, Though you died three years ago.

Sadly missed, love

Mom

IN MEMORIAM

MISCIO - In loving memory of my dear brother, Petrol, who passed away July 20, 1979.

A million times we've needed you,
A million times we've cried.
If love could have saved you Petrol,
You never would have died.
Things we feel most deeply
Are the hardest things to say.
Our dearest brother, we loved you
In a very special way.
If we could have one lifetime wish,
With one dream that would come true,
We pray to God with all our hearts,
For yesterday and you.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered,

Sister Vera

DEACON - In loving memory of William Deacon, who passed away July 20, 1981.

A little tribute small & tender
Just to say we still remember.
